

Signs Nixon Is Grooming Connally

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon's new foreign-affairs assignment for Treasury Secretary John B. Connally has added another feather to the tall Texan's hat and spurred fresh speculation that Nixon is grooming him as a 1972 running mate.

White House officials disclosed Monday that Nixon has tapped his sole Democratic Cabinet member as his official representative at the Oct. 31 inauguration of South Vietnamese President Nguyen Van Thieu.

The officials said, without giving details, that Connally also will visit other countries on his Asian journey. Another source said his itinerary includes a stop in Tokyo for talks with Japanese officials being buffeted by protests over an agreement signed last week cutting Japanese textile shipments to the United States.

But it is the Vietnam visit—a seemingly unusual assignment for a man best known as the chief spokesman for the new Nixon economics—that started the tongues wagging anew about the possibility he might supplant Spiro T. Agnew as Nixon's vice presidential choice.

The intrigue was heightened when it was recalled that Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird plans to be in Brussels Oct. 26-28 for a meeting of North Atlantic Treaty Organization officials, then plans to go to Vietnam the first week in November.

Laird presumably could have been picked to go to Saigon from Brussels to represent the United States when Thieu is sworn in for his second term Oct. 31. But instead, he is returning to the United States for a brief stay before heading to Vietnam.

"There's no interplay," a Nixon aide said when asked about the Laird and Connally trips. This official characterized the Saigon visit as simply one stop in a multi-nation Asian tour being mapped for Connally.

Nixon has refused to discuss his 1972 political plans, and Connally usually brushes aside with a smile any suggestion he is vice presidential timber—a possibility that has even been mentioned by some top Republicans.

"I'm not going to make a comment along those lines at all," says the 54-year-old three-time Texas governor and graduate of the Lyndon B. Johnson school of politics.

Court Will Hear Curt Flood's Case

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court agreed today to hear Curt Flood's suit against professional baseball and to rule on the sport's immunity from antitrust laws.

The former all-star center-fielder, now living somewhere in Europe, has claimed ever since the St. Louis Cardinals traded him in 1969 to the Philadelphia Phillies that baseball's contract violates both state and federal antitrust laws and is a form of slavery. His chief lawyer is former Supreme Court Justice Arthur Goldberg.

The court simply announced there was no comment on any of the issues.

The case will be heard sometime later this term.

The target of Flood's attack is the so-called "reserve system," which binds ballplayers to the team that holds their contract.

Hecklers to Follow Kosygin

MOSCOW (AP) — Tass today gave the first Soviet report of the Hungarian refugee's attack on Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kosygin more than 12 hours before.

The Soviet news agency in a dispatch datelined Ottawa said a "provocation was committed against the chairman of the U.S.S.R. Council of Ministers."

"When Alexei Kosygin and the Canadian Prime Minister Trudeau came out of the building of Parliament at the end of the first day of Soviet-Canadian talks, a man from the crowd near the building managed to break through the guards and tried to commit an act of hooliganism. The police are conducting investigations," the report continued.

"Prime Minister Trudeau of Canada expressed profound regret over the happening."

Pravda in its edition today made no direct reference to the attack.

Instead the Soviet Communist party newspaper said good neighborly relations between Canada and the Soviet Union "are not to the liking of some elements, and they stint no efforts in inventing 'problems' and hindering a development of these relations. But both we and most Canadians understand well that these are people of the past who got struck in the trenches of the cold war."

Nixon Plan for Nat'l Health Insurance Has Employers Footing Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon's proposal for an insurance system largely paid for by employers is the first of several to be presented to Congress as it begins long-deferred hearings today on national health protection.

The House Ways and Means Committee set aside the first two days to hear and question Elliot L. Richardson, secretary of Health, Education and Welfare.

Later the committee will hear proponents of a variety of other plans, including a bill with strong labor backing for a sweeping, tax-financed system covering most health costs for everyone.

Chairman Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., has said the committee will probably write its own bill, taking some elements from proposals before it and originating some. He has hinted it will not be as sweeping as the broadest pending bills.

In any case, the legislation is not expected to be ready for House consideration until after Congress reconvenes next year.

Chinese Issue Before UN, Compromise May Prevent Expulsion

By WILLIAM N. OATIS
Associated Press Writer

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — A proposal to seat the Chinese Communists as the representatives of mainland China and the Chinese Nationalists as the representatives of Taiwan was pending in the United Nations today as a suggested compromise to prevent the expulsion of the Nationalists.

Ambassador Jamil M. Baroody of Saudi Arabia introduced the new proposal in the 131-nation General Assembly on Monday in the form of amendments to the Albanian resolution, which would replace the Nationalists with the Communists in the world body.

Baroody said he would submit similar amendments to the rival U.N. resolution, which would seat both Chinas in the assembly and the Communists on the Security Council without reference to their conflicting claims to represent both the mainland and Taiwan.

Baroody said he hoped to persuade the cosponsors of both resolutions—22 for the Albanian and 19 for the American—"to see how we may be able to devise a solution not only by dint of common sense but by fairness and justice to all the parties concerned."

He said his formula was based on the right of self-determination.

Baroody's action was the only surprise Monday in the first day of the Assembly's 1971 China debate—the first in 22 years in which the United States is backing a two-Chinas formula.

Foreign Minister Nesti Nase of Albania introduced his government's resolution and reported that the People's Republic of China would have nothing to do with the United Nations unless the "Chiang Kai-shek clique" was expelled.

U.S. Ambassador George Bush introduced his government's plan and argued that nobody knew how Peking would react if it was adopted.

He also introduced a resolution that would make any move to expel Nationalist China an "important question," requiring a two-thirds vote rather than a simple majority for passage. He said the expulsion of Chiang's government would create a dangerous precedent for other U.N. members.

Property Tax Necessary, Says Ford

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Education Commissioner Arch W. Ford says that property taxes are needed in Arkansas to finance the schools.

He said the state could assume financing of the public schools but he said it could not be done without the property tax.

Ford's remarks came after the California Supreme Court ruled that the state's property tax laws, which supports the schools, were unconstitutional.

Ford said that the ruling by the California Court had been misunderstood. He said the court was not concerned about the collection of the taxes, but in the manner in which the funds were distributed.

School Lunch Program Is Reinstated

By PEGGY SIMPSON
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House has voted without dissent to reinstate a more liberal school-lunch program, but not before the Agriculture Department, feeling presidential and congressional pressure, had done what the House sought to force.

The USDA announced just hours before the 354-0 vote Monday that it was rescinding the belt-tightening policies that prompted strong action in both houses.

The capitulation raised doubt whether congressional follow-through to resolve differing versions of House and Senate lunch measures was needed.

And the sequence of events on the issue left one senator declaring that his colleagues had gone crazy.

The House bill provides a minimum of 46 cents in federal reimbursement to the states for every lunch served to a child deemed eligible by the state.

The USDA policy change, the third since mid-August, tracked closely the aims of the House measure. In August the department announced that the school lunch reimbursements would be set at 35 cents per serving, down from the previous year's 46 cents.

Congress returned from recess expressing outrage at the action, and USDA on Oct. 6 announced it was moving the lunch reimbursement up to 46 cents.

At the same time the department restricted eligibility to its own standard: children of parents earning less than $3,940.

The action eliminated an estimated 1 million to 1.5 million children who had gotten free or reduced-priced lunches last year after Congress and the White House ordered schools to feed every needy child.

The department yielded Monday on a major point, allowing the states to set eligibility, as well as increasing the reimbursement per lunch to 46 cents. Some states' maximum income level for participation far exceeds that favored by USDA.

But what happens next is in doubt.

The Senate on Oct. 1 passed a bill that was not as broad as the House version.

The Senate version says nothing about eligibility and declares that 46 cents shall be the minimum reimbursement.

The USDA says the 46-cent reimbursement is an average, not a minimum, figure.

Sen. Allen Ellender, chairman of the Senate Appropriations Committee, said he's all for adding another $135 million to the USDA school lunch program to expand it to those he defined as the really needy.

Chicken Price Has Dropped in Arkansas

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Richard W. Longing, director of the state Commerce Department, said Monday that the price of chickens has dropped in Arkansas since it was made public that Arkansas chickens sold cheaper in surrounding states than in Arkansas.

He said that on Sept. 21 Arkansas-raised chickens were selling for 39 cents a pound at Little Rock and North Little Rock groceries. Now, he said, the average price per pound is 23 cents a pound.

The department and a committee appointed by the department have been checking on food prices in Arkansas and comparing the prices with other states.

Figures show that Arkansas fryers are selling for 39 to 43 cents a pound in California, 29 cents a pound in Ohio, 31 to 33 cents a pound in Georgia, 29 cents a pound at Denver and 29 cents a pound at Amarillo.

Hijacker Surrenders in Canada

VANCOUVER, B.C. (AP) — The stewardess says a young man who surrendered to Royal Canadian Mounted Police after hijacking a Boeing 737 over Alaska was worried about ending up in jail. He had put off the passengers at the first stop.

Nancy Davis, 22, a stewardess from Seattle on her first flight since joining Wien Consolidated Airlines two weeks ago, said the hijacker was scared and nervous and had said he was "frightened about going back to jail."

"He kept telling me how calm I was," Miss Davis said Monday night. "My stomach was practically upside down, but I guess it didn't show."

The hijacker, armed with a small caliber pistol, took over the plane Monday afternoon during a flight from Anchorage to Bethel, Alaska. He ordered the plane back to Anchorage, let the 30 passengers off, and then demanded that the four-member crew fly him to Vancouver.

After going on to Vancouver, the hijacker ordered the plane into the air again, but changed his mind and the 737 returned to Vancouver International Airport.

Canadian immigration authorities held a man identified as Del Lavon Thomas, 28, on a detaining order under air piracy charges filed in Anchorage.

Congress Gets Post-Freeze Legislation

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon sent to Congress today legislation for the post-freeze anti-inflation efforts, calling for civil as well as criminal penalties, authority to control interest and dividends if needed and setting up a temporary emergency court of appeals to handle wage-price cases.

The President asked for a one-year extension to April 30, 1973 of the Economic Stabilization Act, which provides the power to act to regulate inflationary forces.

Undersecretary of the Treasury Charles Walker said the one-year time limit in no way indicates the length of time that the price-wage controls will remain in effect.

He said the controls will remain for as long as "it takes to break the back of inflationary expectations and to make meaningful progress to bring down the cost of living."

The proposed legislation calls for the same $5,000 criminal fines now contained in the law and adds a civil penalty of $2,500 for violations, adding what officials said were more teeth to enforce the effort.

The measure Nixon sent to the Capitol actually involved a "substantial rewriting" of the 1970 Economic Stabilization Act to clarify the presidential authority as well as to add the standby controls over interest and dividends at "levels consonant with orderly economic growth."

It also provides the power to regulate certain sectors of the economy where there are severe economic pressures.

Walker said it was not contemplated that the interest-dividend curbs will have to be used. He said "by severely puncturing inflationary expectations" the anti-inflationary efforts "will cause interest rates to decline." He said there already had been a "dramatic decline" in these rates.

Meanwhile a new government report showed the nation's economy entering the last months of 1971 still suffering with substantial slack.

Error Caused Complaint to Be Ignored

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The state attorney general's office said Monday that a complaint against a state trooper was not answered due to error on the part of a State Police secretary of the U.S. Mail.

Asst. Atty. Gen. Garner Taylor Jr. said in a pleading filed in U.S. District Court here that the office had not received a request to represent Trooper Joe Martz of Harrisburg.

Last Friday, attorneys for Floyd Morgan of Harrisburg, father of the late Merle Morgan, filed a motion seeking a $150,000 summary judgment against Martz on the grounds he failed to answer a complaint that charged that actions by three Poinsett County officers resulted in Merle Morgan's death.

Taylor asked that Morgan's request be denied.

The pleading said that the necessary papers from the trooper were mailed to the State Police office. The pleading then said a secretary who processed the papers said she mailed the letters. But she said she did not remember if she sent them to the attorney general's office through the U.S. Mail or inter-agency mail.

War Deadline Uncertain in House

By JIM ADAMS
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — House leaders blocked taking a straight up or down vote on the Senate's six-month Indochina war deadline today, saying other features of a $21 billion weapons bill are more important.

Republican Whip Leslie C. Arends of Illinois denied that leaders feared the House would have reversed previous stands and would have called on President Nixon to pull out of the war in six months if American prisoners are released.

Republicans control the one motion on taking a House stand on any feature of the $21 billion weapons authorization containing the six-month war halt.

Arends said he himself would make the motion and it would be to reject seven other Senate amendments that under House rules are nongermane, not pertinent, to a military weapons bill.

White House aides and GOP leaders including Rep. Gerald Ford of Michigan had lobbied for a week, right up until the last-minute decision, as though the vote would be on the six-month war halt.

In a final effort, the White House invited some 60 House Democrats this morning for a briefing by Adm. Thomas H. Moorer, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff.

An Associated Press check Monday found nine sure and four possible new House votes switched in favor of the Mansfield amendment, short of the antiwar forces' 23-vote target.

Republicans had the power to prevent a vote on the war deadline because they got the one motion permitted on binding the House to any feature of the Senate-passed $21-billion weapons bill containing the deadline before it went to a House-Senate conference.

Ford told newsmen Monday the House already has approved one Mansfield war-halt amendment after the nine-month date was taken out, and said he might decide to turn the one House-binding motion over to some other feature of the $21-billion bill instead of Mansfield's new six-month amendment.

"Passage of another Mansfield amendment," Ford said, "would tend to undercut the President's efforts in Moscow and Peking."

That argument had several Republicans who have supported war deadlines in the past considering switches of their votes.

Found Guilty in Fatal Shooting

Pharmacies Are Posting Drug Prices

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Osco Drug pharmacies, including three in Little Rock, began posting the prices of 100 frequently prescribed drugs and medicines.

Fred M. Dearborn, district manager for the chain, said that the action was taken to eliminate the mystery surrounding the price of prescription drugs. He said the customer has the right to know and compare the price of the drugs.

The chain began the policy in 16 states, including Arkansas, Monday.

State pharmacy boards in Illinois and Minnesota say it is illegal advertising and some pharmacists could lose their licenses.

I. D. Horne, the secretary of the Arkansas Pharmacy Board, said Monday night that the board was investigating the situation.

"We don't have complete information at this time," he said.

U.S. Economy in Fading U.S. Plane Months of Year Still Suffering With Slack

By BILL NEIKIRK
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — With faint signs of a turnaround showing, the nation's economy enters the fading months of 1971 still suffering with substantial slack, a new government report shows.

The Federal Reserve Board said Monday that industrial production advanced by 5 percent in September after dropping sharply in the two previous months.

At the same time, the pace of home building, one of the economy's strongest sectors, slackened after a strong August showing, the Commerce Department said.

Neither report excited administration economists. Although they welcomed a rise in industrial output, they said the strong production upsurge they seek has yet to take place.

President Nixon and his economic advisers have predicted the economy will put on a strong showing in the last three months of the year, leading the way to a "very good year" in 1972.

Industrial production rebounded in September primarily because of a recovery of output in the steel industry, the board said. But it added the steel industry is still slack ridden, with production of raw steel showing a decline in the first part of October.

Although the key industrial production index increased, it was still 6 percent below the high recorded in the middle of 1969. The index however, was 2 percent higher than last November's low point, when the 1970 recession was at its deepest level.

The administration is hoping Nixon's new economic moves, including restoration of the investment tax credit, will spur output of the nation's factories, mines and utilities.

The board said production of consumer goods and business equipment increased in September while defense output declined. Auto production remained at previous levels.

The Commerce Department said housing starts in September reached an annual rate of 1.958 million units, seasonally adjusted, down from the August rate of 2.235 million units.

The administration said one reason for the drop was that housing starts may have been artificially high in August, reaching a level that was hard to maintain throughout the remainder of 1971.

But Dr. Harold Passer, assistant commerce secretary for economic affairs, said 1971 "will be the best housing year in history," reaching, he said, the administration's goal of two million housing starts this year.

In the three months from July through September, housing starts were at a seasonally adjusted annual rate of 2.1 million units, the highest quarterly rate on record, he said.

Passer said prospects for further housing gains in 1972 are good.

Bond was set at $10,000 on the charges against Mark C. Vanciel, 17. His trial has been set for Jan. 17, 1972.

Vanciel's father, the Rev. Bryan Vanciel, who is the pastor of the First Nazarene Church here, appeared with his son at preliminary hearings in both U.S. and Circuit Courts.

Vanciel went before U. S. Magistrate Walter R. Niblock earlier in the day but did not enter a plea.

On federal charges of attempting to bomb a federally funded building bond was set for Vanciel at $25,000.

He is being held in the Fayetteville City Jail.

At the hearing in Circuit Court FBI agent Les Ledbetter said that federal and local officials had staked out the building Friday night after two burned jars were found on the steps of the building Friday morning.

Vanciel was one of 37 persons arrested last year in Fayetteville during a demonstration against the Vietnam War.

He attended classes at the university this summer, but had not enrolled this fall.

Kills 18 Accidentally

SAIGON (AP) — An American fighter-bomber accidentally bombed a South Vietnamese position near the Cambodian border and killed 18 South Vietnamese troops, the U.S. Command announced today.

The command said seven South Vietnamese paratroopers were seriously wounded, and "additional soldiers received lesser wounds" in the bombing raid Monday 60 miles northwest of Saigon.

The command said a U.S. Air Force A37 jet, flying in support of South Vietnamese troops, dropped two 500-pound bombs on an "assigned target" near the government paratroop base at Thien Ngan, on Route 22 in Tay Ninh Province.

A U.S. spokesman said a preliminary investigation indicated the target had been marked by an American forward air controller and cleared by the South Vietnamese ground commander in the area.

It was the worst bombing mistake since March 5, when a napalm strike by U.S. aircraft killed 36 South Vietnamese troops participating in the invasion of Laos.

No major battles were reported along the Cambodian border, but North Vietnamese gunners continued to shell South Vietnamese outposts and U.S. Fire Base Pace. Spokesman said none of these attacks caused any casualties.

South of Saigon, in the Mekong Delta, the South Vietnamese command claimed, 34 enemy were killed in a five-hour engagement between a 500-man battalion of government infantrymen and a force of Viet Cong and North Vietnamese. A spokesman said three South Vietnamese troops were killed and six wounded in the battle on the edge of the U Minh forest.

Labor Groups Are Against Mr. Friday

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Three state labor officials came out Monday against the possible nomination of Herschel H. Friday Jr., a Little Rock lawyer, to the U.S. Supreme Court.

The three said they hoped if President Nixon did nominate Friday that the Senate would not confirm him.

Those remarks were in a statement issued by J. Bill Becker, president of the Arkansas state AFL-CIO, Herbert Bingham, area director of the UAW International and Odell Smith, president of Local 878 of the International Brotherhood of Teamsters.

"The president of a country club which excludes blacks and Jews is not a man with the tolerance which the Supreme Court requires," their statement said. "A man who has made a fortune as an influence-peddling manipulator of public bonds and utility rates is not a man with the judgment which the Supreme Court demands."

"We have had our own experience with Friday and his law firm," the statement said. "They regularly manage union-busting campaigns. They have helped break strikes against employers determine not to recognize legal rights of employees to organized and bargain collectively."

The plan has to be submitted by Jan. 30.

The meeting Friday is to discuss possible changes in the state's Air Code to make it conform to national standards.

The students also were protesting the board's action in regards to Johnson.

Bryant said the students would back Johnson "unless they the board can prove to us he's not worthy."

Red Defector Is Granted U.S. Asylum

By KENNETH J. FREED
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Russian defector said to have disclosed existence of a Soviet spy ring in Belgium is now in the United States after being granted political asylum, according to the State Department.

A brief statement issued Monday afternoon said Anatoly Tchekotarev, a member of the Soviet trade mission in Belgium, recently asked the U.S. Embassy in Brussels to be allowed to enter the United States. His request was granted, the department said.

Tchekotarev has been missing since early this month, but U.S. officials declined to say when he asked for asylum, when he entered the United States or where he is staying.

Neither would they say why he sought asylum in the United States rather than Belgium, but an official said it is not unusual for such defectors to be brought to America.

There was virtually no personal information available about Tchekotarev beyond his connection with the Soviet trade mission, except for reports he was a friend of Oleg Lyalin, another Russian defector who recently informed on a Soviet spy ring in Great Britain.

According to the Belgian foreign ministry, Tchekotarev had told the American embassy in Brussels of the spy ring in that country and the information

Try Taylor's Hem on the Double Knits

HOPE, ARK.—Are you having trouble hemming your double knit so that it will not be bulky and show from the right side? Then try using the tailor's hem finish for knits, according to Mrs. Alphonso T. Denham, associate Extension home economist for Hempstead County.

Mark the hem and cut it to an even width, 1 1/2 to 2 1/2 inches deep. Make one row of machine stitching 3/8 inch from the raw edge of the hem. Pin the hem in place. Fold the hem back to the row of stitching and hem by catching a stitch of sewing and a thread of the skirt. Make the stitches 1-2 inch apart. The hem stitch should be hidden under the hem. Do not pull the hand stitches too tightly, as this makes the hem show on the right side. Press the hem very lightly.

The tailor's hem can be used on any non-raveling, firmly woven, medium to heavy fabrics.

Television and Radio

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — There

may be a remarkable lack of novelty in this season's television fare, but there certainly is plenty of effort to build audiences by patching shows together in off-beat ways

The most popular method now is to start a story on one series and finish it on another. "Ironside" has worked on a murder that was cleaned up on "Sarge" which followed immediately.

"Adam 12" is up to the same trick in league with "The D.A." Tonight "Marcus Welby, M.D." will accept a case that will wind up in the offices of "Owen Marshall, Counselor-at-Law" Thursday evening.

Two-part-even three-part-programs proliferate. "The F.B.I." is in the middle of a two-parter, and lots more series have one or two on the fire.

This sort of cliff-hanging is supposed to get the viewer so interested in the plot on one series that he tunes in to the other to catch the denouement, thus becoming a regular viewer of the second series as well.

However TV executives forget that some viewers who get caught up with the problems of Dr. Welby's patient become annoyed when they must tune in again Thursday to get the full story. He bows Thursday and she visits her mother. The result is that both viewers may take their business to another doctor show.

Television programmers, however, have become so clever about placing shows in network schedules that series stars themselves can't be sure shows are hits or just rest periods.

CBS, for example, has a couple of new front runners in its Saturday night "Funny Face" and "The New Dick Van Dyke Show."

Is "Funny Face" really doing well, or is the audience just too lazy to switch channels after it has seen "All in the Family"? Do they love the new Van Dyke series or are they just getting set to watch the following "Mary Tyler Moore Show"?

These established shows are called, "strong lead-ins." "All in the Family"—and "lead-outs"—"Mary Tyler Moore"

Mrs. Haley plans to study Arkansas, just as he has studied the cultures of the various countries where her father was an ambassador.

She holds degrees from the Sorbonne in Paris and the University of Madrid.

Paris is her favorite city, she said. However, she did not go there by choice.

She had been doing classical Indian dancing for two years when her parents told her she would either have to go into dancing more seriously or do some more studying.

If she had chosen dancing, she would have to enter a school and live the life of a "hermit," where all her time would be devoted to meditation and study, she said.

Before a performance she would stay secluded and meditate, sometimes with a guru, to prepare herself for the evening's performance.

Dancing in Indian often has a religious meaning, she explained.

So when the choice came between being a recluse or going on to school, she chose school.

For more than a year, she lived on the Left Bank of Paris and attended classes. She lived the life of a student, wearing black sweaters and boots and entertaining friends.

But then her parents moved to Paris and she was forced to move in with them on the right bank of the river.

"I couldn't go around with my hair uncombed any more," she said. "I was my father's daughter."

She had to change her style of living and dressing to conform to the expectations of an ambassador.

"It was like living in two worlds," she said. During the day, she was a student and at night she would return home, don a cocktail dress and attend one of the many functions her family was invited to.

When she returned to Manila at the age of 24, she began the first modeling and charm school in Southeast Asia. The school is still in existence.

While at the school, she received a call from the Hilton Hotel asking her to come to work for them and she left the school.

Haley, who has been married previously, described his wife as a "supergirl."

She says she is going to concentrate on cooking — she has never cooked before.

A month before she was married her mother tried to give her a crash course in cooking.

"But all I did was burn my hand and drop things," she said.

She was going to attempt a Philippine breakfast for some friends here, but had to call for help when she discovered she did not even know how to work the stove.

"I had all those things on it," she said gesturing to explain all the dials on the stove.

When the house is finished,

Great classic looks are back this year and for the woman past late adolescence that's welcome fashion news. The belted vest effect tunic jacket (left) makes a great town look with matching skirt in argyle plaid knit. It travels well, too, with matching argyle pants. Weekender fashion (right) with the pants look features a long-sleeved, ribbed, placket-front safari tunic with basket weave trim at pockets and belt. The matching ribbed pants can be replaced by a knee-length straight skirt that goes along with the costume. These designs are in textured knits of "Dacron" polyester.

Daughter of a Retired Ambassador Describes Marriage as 'Crazy'

By DALA MCKINSEY

Associated Press Writer

LITTLE ROCK (AP)— Maria Luisa Mabilongon Haley, daughter of a retired ambassador to France, Spain, India and Pakistan, described her recent wedding as a "crazy thing."

Last month, she became the wife of John Haley, chairman of the state Board of Correction, in what she had originally meant to be a small wedding. Forty-five people attended.

Both Haley and his bride flew to Hong Kong to avoid the traditions of a wedding in her home in Manila, the Philippines.

"It would have been a carnival," she said. Mrs. Haley, a Catholic, said she simply wanted the "blessings of the priest."

Instead she arrived in Hong Kong with an "entourage." Haley brought along two friends.

The couple then flew back to Manila where they honeymooned at the Manila Hilton, where Mrs. Haley was the sales manager.

They were met at the Manila airport by a police escort. They were then driven to the Hilton where they were greeted by the entire staff lined up on either side of a red carpet. The Haleys stayed in the Presidential Suite.

"I used to say I wanted to stay in that suite one day," she said.

The Haleys met in Manila where a mutual friend introduced them. Haley, a lawyer, frequently goes to Manila on business.

Mrs. Haley laughed and said the only objection her parents had to her getting married was her moving to Little Rock.

She explained that the 1967 school crisis in Little Rock had left people in the Orient with the impression that the South was discriminatory.

"I thought they were going to make me ride in the back of the bus," she said.

Instead she says she has found everybody friendly.

Neither Haley nor his wife could recall when he proposed.

"I think he just told me," she said.

Mrs. Haley said what finalized the plan was when the telephone bill from Little Rock to Manila got too high. She said he often called her twice a week.

Mrs. Haley said she would describe herself as a liberated woman who has never been dominated by anyone.

But, she says, due to her Oriental background, she feels like the man is the master of his house.

Mrs. Haley, who asked that her age not be used, is 5-foot-2 and has petite features. She finds the little Oriental style dresses with slits up the side comfortable for at home wear.

She is now occupying herself with decorating a home Haley bought in west Little Rock on Arkansas 10. She says she plans to use things from the Orient in the decor.

When the house is finished,

Fresh Salesman

Shopping for a studio couch, Myrtle followed the friendly salesman to an obscure nook at the back of the furniture store. Suddenly, while they were talking about fabrics, the salesman seized her in a violent embrace

Myrtle was so outraged that she not only had the man fired but also sued the owner of the store for damages.

"This was a clear case of assault and battery," she charged in court. "And every employer is responsible for the acts of his employees."

But the court disagreed and rejected her claim. The judge said the owner was not responsible for an act that was so completely separate from the job of selling furniture.

This is a general rule of law, that an employer is not liable for an employee's personal misconduct outside the scope of his job. Thus, the owner of a bar was held not liable when a mischievous waiter gave a customer a painful hotfoot.

It is a different story, however, when the employee's duties do include a certain amount of physical contact with the public. Take this case:

At a movie matinee, a noisy teen-ager was ejected from the theater by an irate usher. In doing so, the usher used considerably more roughness than was necessary.

This time, when the teen-ager sued the management for damages, the court pointed out that policing the customers was part of the job of ushering. Even though the usher overdid it, the court said that the theater, as his employer, would have to pay damages.

Furthermore, certain employers may be held liable because of an extra duty they owe the public. For example, a railroad had to pay damages after an amorous conductor forced several kisses on a reluctant woman passenger.

To be sure, kissing passengers was not within the scope of a conductor's job. But the court said that the railroad, as a public

Questions, Answers About SS

If you have any questions regarding social security, send them to the Social Security Office, Box 1319, Texarkana, Texas 75501 Attention: Glenda Bozeman.

Q. We went to a great deal of trouble to take our blind neighbor (who is also unable to walk) to the post office in Hope to see your representative about changing his address. We were told this had to be done in person, which was a difficult experience for our neighbor. Was this necessary?

A. No. We urge everyone to use the telephone, (and call collect to area code 214, Phone 794-3755) to report changes of address and other types of reports. We are sorry your neighbor underwent such a physical strain because of the incorrect information he received.

Q. What age proof should I bring with me when I apply for social security benefits?

A. Bring your birth or baptismal record that was recorded before age five, if one is available. If not, bring the oldest proof that you have, such as a school record, old insurance policy, or the birth certificate of a child that shows your age. Several of these records, taken together, are very helpful in establishing your date of birth.

Q. Will the tax rate go up this year to pay for the increase in social security payments?

A. No, the present tax rate, 5.2 percent for employees and employers, and 7.5 percent for the self-employed, will remain the same through 1972. The maximum tax base will increase from the present $7800 a year to $9000 a year beginning with 1972.

Q. I receive a social security disability check. My wife is 51 and also disabled. Can she get a wife's benefit on my record?

A. No, not unless you have a child under 18 entitled to benefits on your record, who is living with your wife. However, if your wife has worked on a social security job for five years out of the ten years before she became disabled, she may be eligible on her own record.

Hanging Out the College Grid Wash

By HERSCHEL NISSENSEN
Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Hanging out the college football wash: To paraphrase an old cliché, it's not how long you have the football, it's where you wind up with it.

William & Mary got off a whopping 100 plays Saturday against Virginia Tech—59 rushing for 234 yards, 28 of 41 passes for 309—but lost the game 41-30.

The Indians had run 52 plays by halftime, the same number Tech had for the entire game.

Tech gained 375 yards and used five fumble recoveries to win.

You probably know that President Nixon called Eddie Robinson on Saturday when the veteran Grambling coach became the seventh coach in college football history to notch 200 victories.

But what you probably don't know is that Eddie Robinson made a call, too. He phoned Joe Allet, who compiled a 151-86-8 record at predominantly white Louisiana Tech—five miles from predominantly black Grambling—from 1940-66.

Allet, that's pronounced I-A, is seriously ill and Robinson just wanted "to tell him I knew he's be up around 200 also if he hadn't retired when he did."

Oklahoma's supersonic Sooners aren't doing much for the school's alumni association. The last two Saturdays they've whipped two of their former quarterbacks—Darrell Royal of Texas and Eddie Crowder of Colorado.

And Lafayette's 17-15 triumph

Williams Is Manager of the Year

By HUBERT MIZELL
Associated Press Sports Writer
RIVIERA BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Dick Williams wasn't exactly the Boston Strangler, but he used everything short of the guillotine to goad the Red Sox into winning the 1967 pennant.

"I had to be tough," Williams said. "My job was to break up Boston's baseball country club. You don't do that by being nice."

Two years later, Williams himself died by the sword. The Red Sox fired him before the American League championship flag had time to fade atop the Fenway Park flagpole.

Boston finished fourth in 1968 and third in 1969.

"Montreal hired me as a coach," he said, "but I was waiting and hoping for another shot as a big league manager. When Oakland took me, I worried that my Boston reputation might proceed me to the A's training camp."

It didn't. Dick and the Oakland A's hit it off splendidly.

The A's hustled to a 101-61 record to run away with the AL's Western Division crown. For that performance, Williams was named Monday American League manager of the year in an Associated Press poll.

"I knew the voting went in before the playoffs," Williams said at his home here, "so I thought I had a chance. I won the honor at Boston in 1967. I'm quite pleased."

Oakland was routed by Baltimore in the playoffs, but Orioles skipper Earl Weaver ran a distant third in the balloting. Despite many successes, Weaver has never won the award.

Williams polled 107 votes, Kansas City's Bob Lemon was the runnerup with 66 and Weaver received only 59.

"I know Earl has to be upset," said the 1971 honoree. "He deserves recognition with three pennants and two World Series victories. I feel sorry for him, but happy for myself."

Weaver learned of the honor

Royal Says Horns Slipped Gradually

By JACK KEEVER
Associated Press Sports Writer
AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Breaks says Texas Coach Darrell Royal, "never look around for a lazy person."

Injuries have crippled 10 Longhorn starters, and Royal indicated Monday that those who are healthy are not playing as well as they could.

He told a news conference that Texas has been so crippled this year that "we haven't had a well-coordinated offensive practice since before UCLA," Sept. 18.

"Our team has gradually slipped," he said of his squad which won three straight, then lost two. "It's obvious that we are a shell of the football team we were at the first of the season."

Royal said Arkansas, which beat Texas 31-7 last Saturday, should be rated among the top five teams in the nation, as well as No. 2 Oklahoma, which whipped the Longhorns 48-27 the week before.

"If we had been firing our best shots, we would have been hard-pressed to stay close" to the Sooners and Razorbacks, Royal said, "and we didn't fire our best shots."

Ten starters have missed games because of injuries this season, including those expected to put zip in the Wishbone-T offense—quarterback Eddie Phillips, split receiver Jim Moore, tight end Rick Davis and half-back Don Burris.

The latest casualty was tackle Ray Dowdy, a 225-pound senior who is rated as Texas' best defender. He has his knee in a cast and will not play against Rice next Saturday, Royal said.

His replacement will be 6 feet 5 275-pound sophomore Robert Guevara.

As if injuries were not enough, Royal said, "we're not playing as well as we're capable of playing ... we're not playing well with what we have left."

He said Texas' offense against Arkansas "was really pretty miserable. We had nothing that really resembled an offense after the first few series."

On defense, Mike Rowan won a battlefield promotion to cornerback to replace Mike Bayer, who will replace Alan Moore at safety.

On offense, Julius Whittier will move into the starting lineup at tackle to replace Bill Wyman, who will move to center to share time with Jeff Zapalac.

"We can't sit pat on what we've been doing," Royal said. "We've got to try to come up with a solution."

Asked about Texas' next five foes—all Southwest Conference teams—Royal said, "We're just like they are. We'll have to fight for every first down and every inch we get."

Royal said Texas is "not one bit better than this Rice team," which has only beaten Tulane in five games.

He said the Owls are "kind of like we are. They're struggling to try to find a way out of the trap."

The loss to Oklahoma snapped Texas' 31-game winning streak in regular season games, and the loss to Arkansas broke a string of 21 consecutive SWC victories by the Longhorns.

Arkansas Porkers Are Leading Conference in All the Statistics

DALLAS (AP) — The Arkansas Razorbacks have the statistical credentials to back up their Southwest Conference football leadership—both offensively and defensively.

The Razorback defense—suspect in spring training—has really come front and center. Arkansas is yielding an average of only 244.3 yards per game. You have to go back to Arkansas' championship 1964 outfit to find a better defensive mark—180.5 yards.

Arkansas has allowed only 120.7 yards per contest rushing. Texas Tech leads in pass defense, allowing an average of 73.2 yards per contest.

Offensively, Arkansas has the overall lead with an average of 471.8 yards and the passing lead with an average of 220.3 yards per game. Texas has the rushing lead with an average of 284.4 yards.

Quarterback Joe Ferguson leads in passing with a 60.1 completion percentage for the Razorbacks on 86 of 143 passes.

Bobby Davis of Texas Christian is the rushing leader with 96 yards per game.

Mike Reppond of Arkansas leads the SWC in pass receiving with an average of five catches per contest. He has caught 30 passes for 581 yards and three touchdowns.

In total offense, Ferguson leads with a 220.7 yard average while Alvin Maxson of Southern Methodist has the tandem offense lead with an average of 111 yards per contest.

Donnie Wigginton, Texas quarterback, leads in scoring with 8.4 points per game.

Funny Thing Happened to Dave Smith

By ROBERT MOORE
Associated Press Sports Writer
KANSAS CITY (AP) — A funny thing happened to young Dave Smith on his way into the end zone Monday night.

Smith, a sophomore receiver for the Pittsburgh Steelers, had taken a pass from Terry Bradshaw on a 50-yard play. He was all alone.

As he neared the goal, he suddenly exploded jubilantly and heaved the ball into the air like football players do in celebration of success.

The trouble was Smith hadn't reached the final stride. The ball squirted through the end zone.

It was only a touchback. The score at the time was 31-9 in favor of the Kansas City Chiefs, who had wiped out a 9-0 lead with Len Dawson's spectacular passing to Otis Taylor and a couple of assists from the defense during a four-touchdown avalanche in the second quarter.

The Chiefs went on to a 38-16 victory over the Steelers in their nationally televised game and climbed into a first-place with Oakland, 4-1, in the West Division. Pittsburgh, 2-3, fell two games behind Cleveland, 4-1, in the Central Division.

Pittsburgh Coach Chuck Noll said at first he had no comment on Smith's blunder, then reluctantly added:

"I've seen it happen to veterans. He threw the ball before he was across. The college goal posts are 10 yards back. Maybe he was thinking ..." Noll's voice faded away.

Noll thought two plays proved the big difference. Both were passes from Dawson, who complained all week of having a sore arm, to Taylor and covered 82 and 51 yards.

Neither of the bombs scored touchdowns but both set the Chiefs in motion deep in Pittsburgh territory. Dawson flipped the 51-yarder to Taylor at the 27. On the next play, Dawson threw a strike to Taylor in the end zone, erasing the last of Pittsburgh's 9-0 lead rolled up on field goals of 32, 40 and 35 yards by Roy Gerela.

Dawson threw two other touchdown passes, both for five yards, one to Taylor and the other to rookie Elmo Wright, whose touchdown came on the second play following Dawson's 82-yard heave to Taylor.

The Chiefs' crack defense had a big hand in two touchdowns, the first and the fourth, and scored the last one when Emmitt Thomas romped 32 yards with one of Bradshaw's passes.

Kansas City broke into the scoring on the five-yard Dawson-to-Taylor pitch after taking possession at the Steeler five when Curley Culp jarred the ball out of John Fuqua's arms and Jim Lynch recovered for the Chiefs.

Defensive tackle Buck Buchanan intercepted Bradshaw's blocked pass on the Pittsburgh 14 and returned it to the six. Ed Podolak went five and then one for the TD.

"There's no question about it," Noll said, "they're a great football team."

Razorbacks Jump to 9th in Poll

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
There was no change among the first five teams in this week's Associated Press college football poll, but the explosive Oklahoma Sooners made a huge run at Nebraska's defending national champions.

The Cornhuskers received 35 first-place votes and 1,046 points—down five votes and 10 points from last week—from a panel of 55 sports writers and broadcasters across the country following their sixth consecutive triumph, a 55-0 sandbagging of Kansas.

Oklahoma, which received eight top votes and 888 points a week ago, posted Colorado 45-17 and was rewarded with 18 first-place ballots and 1,008 points.

Michigan remained in third place with one No. 1 vote and 837 points by trouncing Illinois 35-6 but the Wolverines' point total fell from 880. Fourth-ranked Alabama whipped Tennessee 32-15 and went from 668 points to 765. Auburn, rated fifth, turned back stubborn Georgia Tech 31-14 but lost ground from 620 points to 585.

Colorado's loss to Oklahoma dropped the Buffaloes from sixth to 11th and Notre Dame, which beat North Carolina 16-0 for its second consecutive shut-out, climbed from seventh to sixth. Penn State's impressive 31-0 jolting of Syracuse lifted the Nittany Lions from ninth to seventh while Georgia, a 24-0 winner over Vanderbilt, stayed in eighth place.

Texas, a 31-7 loser to Arkansas, also dropped out of the Top Ten, with the Razorbacks and Stanford, which beat Southern California 33-18, moving back in.

Behind No. 11 Colorado in the Second Ten came Ohio State, Louisiana State, a 14th-place tie between Arizona State and Toledo, Texas, Purdue, Tennessee, Duke and Air Force.

Last week's Second Ten consisted, in order, of Arizona State, LSU, Ohio State, Tennessee, Stanford, Arkansas, Toledo, Washington, Florida State and Purdue.

Washington's 23-21 loss to Oregon and Florida State's 17-15 upset by Florida cost the losers their positions among the Top Twenty. Duke and Air Force took over.

Carlen Gets a Better Reception

LUBBOCK, Tex., (AP)—Texas Tech Jim Carlen drew tremendous applause at the Red Raider luncheon Tuesday following an introduction as "Lubbock's answer to Martha Mitchell."

Carlen, who criticized fans for booing quarterback Charles Napper last week, said "I'll probably keep making mistakes but that won't be among them."

He said he regretted his abruptness and said some of the things "came out different than I intended them to. In the long run, I think we all learned something from it. I know I sure as heck did."

Carlen said the fan reaction Saturday night in Tech's 14-6 victory over Boston College was great.

"What happened Saturday night was a real encouragement," he said. "I'm sold on Lubbock and wrapped up in you—the people of Lubbock."

Carlen said for those "who are set for me and waiting for me to make a mistake—they didn't have to wait long. Lubbock crowds are enthusiastic... and good crowds ... and we shouldn't get negative things. I guess I got the point across too strong."

Master of ceremonies Bob Nash, who made the Carlen introduction, told the laughing Red Raider luncheon: "There's no truth to the rumor that Dale Carnegie is flying to Lubbock to hit Carlen in the mouth."

Carlen said "I won't say it will be permanent, like I did the last two times."

Murtaugh's Health Only Question

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Danny Murtaugh, manager of the World Champion Pittsburgh Pirates, says only the question of health will affect a decision as to whether or not he'll return as manager next year.

Murtaugh, looking pale and tired after Sunday's final game, said his decision will be made in the "next month or so," and that it will be made with his family's help.

The 54-year-old Murtaugh led the Bucs to the championship in 1960 and then resigned four years later because of a heart ailment. But he returned in 1967 for one year, left again because of a second heart attack, and then came back in 1970 to lead the Pirates to a division title.

"We'll have a family meeting and discuss it," he said. "My daughter and two sons and their spouses will sit down with my wife and me and vote on it. Of course my vote will be the deciding vote," he said.

ATLANTA (AP) — The playing status of injured quarterback Bob Berry for Sunday's game with the New Orleans Saints remains in doubt, according to Atlanta Falcons Coach Norm Van Brocklin.

The Falcons signal caller suffered a pulled hamstring during Atlanta's 24-16 loss to Los Angeles last Sunday.

Van Brocklin said Dick Shiner will fill the quarterback slot against the Saints if Berry is unable to play.

North Texas Back Named for Play

DALLAS (AP) — A sophomore quarterback — Rick Shaw — led North Texas to a shocking 20-17 upset of Louisville Saturday night and has been named Missouri Valley Conference Offensive Player of the Week for his performance.

Rick kept his poise under pressure, said Coach Rod Rust, and did a good job in directing a much improved overall offensive effort.

Statistically, Shaw wasn't particularly impressive. He hit 7 of 15 passes for 113 yards and wound up with a minus 3 yards rushing, but he engineered two long touchdown drives, something that has been lacking from the Eagle attack of late.

Late in the first half, Shaw guided the Eagles 81 yards in 13 plays and a touchdown that closed the gap to 14-7 at half-time. Then in the second half, he took the Eagles 80 yards in 10 plays and scored the TD himself on a two-yard plunge that put the Mean Green ahead to stay. In his second drive he connected on three of three passes, a 36-yarder to tight end Preslie Hodge and a 21-yarder to wide receiver David Yaege.

It was the first win of the season for North Texas State which has posted a disappointing 1-4 record.

Rice Coach Flunked His Psychology

By MICHAEL A. LUTZ
Associated Press Sports Writer
HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Bill Peterson may have flunked his first psychology test as Rice head football coach.

Peterson tried new tactics to get the job done when he started rebuilding from scratch and so far it's netted him a 1-4 record.

"There are two approaches to coaching football," Peterson said. "You can use motivation or fear. I've tried to use motivation at Rice after building programs with fear."

One of Peterson's attempts at motivation came last week when he handed out questionnaires to the team. The questionnaires asked: What are your goals for this game? What are your goals for the season? What are the strengths and weaknesses of the man you will play against?

"I was trying to motivate them into concentration," Peterson said. "And I was convinced it had worked Friday night. We went over some of the questions and I thought we had one of the greatest team meetings since I've been coaching."

But Peterson discovered Saturday night that the game played out between the ear lobes of each player.

"We just didn't get enough effort, we didn't play with pride," Peterson said Monday after the Owls' 16-10 loss to Southern Methodist.

"I've got to do something to shake them up," Peterson said. "We can't afford to play this way. When you don't score after you get down to the goal line, it's nothing more than mental attitude."

Peterson started the "shaking up" Monday when he ordered the team to report in full pads on what is normally a loosening drill following a game.

"We're just a step away in some areas," Peterson said. "A black here, a reception there. It's just little things that have been holding us back."

Peterson decided to use motivation to rebuild the Owls because he had so precious few players to begin with. He couldn't afford to lose any.

And now the Owls are 1-4 and flailing down the nostrils of the Texas Longhorns this weekend. Peterson won't say that fear will rule Rice football from now

Possible That Bing May Lose Eye

By LARRY PALADINO
Associated Press Sports Writer
ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) — Dave Bing's afternoons are relaxed now as he heals from eye surgery performed to prevent him from going blind in his right eye.

There are numerous soap operas on the television in his room at the University of Michigan Hospital but that's not the kind of activity an All-Pro National Basketball Association guard is interested in.

The Detroit Pistons' star was in a light mood Monday considering that Friday an operation was needed to repair a detached retina. An injury suffered Oct. 5 in an exhibition game.

"It may be months before we know what Mr. Bing's residual vision will be in the eye," said Dr. Morton S. Cox, University of Michigan eye surgeon. "Even though the reattachment was successful, some irreversible tissue damage occurs on injury."

But doctors said the reattached retina is "intact and stabilized."

His right eye was partially closed and very red. Bing played in Detroit's opener Oct. 12, a victory against New York, and scored 24 points on seven field goals and 10 of 13 extra points.

"I couldn't see the rim from outside an 18-foot radius and that's why I tried to drive a lot," he said. "That's why I had trouble with my free throws, too."

When the eye continued to bother him he saw a specialist in Detroit, who advised him to have surgery.

"Physically, I feel fine," the 6-foot-3, 180-pounder said. "It is the psychological condition which is the biggest thing I have to overcome."

The 27-year-old former Syracuse University star said fellow guard Jimmy Walker will have to take up the scoring slack in his absence and center Bob Lanier should be fed the ball more.

"Personally, I'd say I'd like to get back in a month," Bing declared. "But doctors said it would be six to eight weeks before I could do anything strenuous again."

"There's no reason for me not to be optimistic and say I can come all the way back," he added, although he also said his doctor asked Bing not to ask about his future in basketball.

Both Bing's eyes were tightly covered with patches Friday and he said when they were taken off following the operation, "I could see light and it really hurt."

He is expected to leave the hospital Thursday and may be on hand at Cobo Arena Oct. 26 to watch the Pistons' next home game.

Bullets Hope to Have Vet in Lineup

BALTIMORE (AP) — The Baltimore Bullets hope to have guard Archie Clark, a veteran of six years in the National Basketball Association, in their lineup tonight in Boston.

In what coach Gene Shue termed a move to improve their consistency, the Bullets acquired Clark, a second-round draft choice in 1973 and a "small amount of cash" Monday night from Philadelphia for veteran guards Kevin Loughery and Fred Carter.

Clark, who stands 6-foot-2 and played his college ball at Minnesota, set personal highs in 19 categories last season and is believed to have a salary in excess of $100,000.

CHICAGO (AP) — Coach Jim Dooley of the Chicago Bears hasn't told his wife yet, but he's moving in with quarterback Bobby Douglass.

At 75, the perennially young Waldemar von Zedwitz has taken up the new two-handed game of Bridge-ette. We can't describe the game here, but we can assure you that it is a delightful game for two.

Here we see him sitting East and defending against three no-trump at New York's Cavendish Club. Waldy was never a fast player in his youth. Age hasn't slowed him down, but it hasn't sped him up either.

He studied for some time before playing the nine of spades on dummy's six. This play cooked South's goose. All Waldy had to do was make sure he grabbed the first diamond so as to lead the spade queen. South had to lose four spades and a diamond.

Let's see what Waldy thought about when he played the nine of spades instead of the queen at trick one.

First he counted points. Assuming declarer held 25 or 26 for his bid this left 4 or 5 for West. West couldn't hold both ace and king of spades. Also the three spot lead indicated a four or five-card suit. Hence South was marked with at least three spades. If South held the ace-jack of spades the nine spot play would let him win the trick with the jack but with the actual situation the nine spot play would beat the same contract and was worth trying.

DR. LAWRENCE E. LAMB

G.P., Internist or Specialist?

How Do You Choose a Doctor?

By Lawrence Lamb, M.D.

Dear Dr. Lamb—How can a person choose a doctor? Is a doctor of internal medicine more competent than a general family medicine doctor? How much is a general family doctor allowed to handle and what can he or she handle?

Dear Reader—A good question and a difficult one to answer. In a small community there may be only one doctor, that solves the problem. He won't be upset if you don't go to see him because he probably already has more than he can do. Many doctors are trapped in exhausting situations and would welcome some relief from their work load. They may not have time to give complete medical examinations unless a patient is ill. If you wish to go to the nearest clinic for an annual evaluation and have the results sent to your community doctor.

In larger communities a good choice is a doctor working with other doctors, in partnership or in group practice. Such groups usually offer more services because they can pool their resources to buy expensive equipment and hire office help that would be impossible if each was alone. They can share knowledge, skills and provide 24-hour coverage. Good doctors do practice by themselves but it is a lot harder for them to do it alone. The group, of course, can be made up entirely of general practitioners or family practice

CHAD EVERETT, star of CBS-TV's hit soap opera, Medical Center, is enjoying his new-found star status but longs to return to movies.

What do you do now?
A—Bid three no-trump. Your partner can still go to four hearts if he has that kind of hand.

TODAY'S QUESTION
You partner has counted 25 or 26 points. What do you do now?

Answer: Four no-trump.

Beyond small group practice in organizational complexity is the clinic, composed of specialists, also a form of group practice. Larger clinics can afford more equipment and services. It isn't necessary to go to these for small problems, like having a small cut sutured or immunizations, but they are excellent for difficult problems that require the skills of different specialty areas and the equipment to do the job. Large hospitals and medical centers are in the same category.

A specialist in internal medicine has four or five years of extra training after becoming a doctor. If he is "board certified" you can be certain he is in the upper half at least in skills within his specialty. Internal medicine includes all the specialties of heart, lungs, digestion, endocrine glands and body systems. To become a subspecialist, such as a heart specialist, a physician must first complete the internal medicine training. Many internists practice family medicine.

The general practitioner or family medicine physician may also have had more training beyond medical school, and usually has training in obstetrics, general surgery and pediatrics. Many of them, with their experience, are just as well qualified for their task as a specialist in internal medicine is in his.

In selecting a doctor, find out if he is a member of the county medical society. If a hospital is available, is he on the hospital staff so he can admit patients? With the problems of being admitted to a hospital these days, unless your doctor is on the staff he may not be able to get you into the hospital if you need to go.

THE GENERATION RAP

—by Helen and Sue Bottel

THIS BROTHER KNOWS HOW TO HURT

Dear Sue and Helen:

The other day my brother and I were into a big fight and he said the reason I acted that way (it wasn't half as bad as HE acted) was because I was adopted and my real mother was retarded.

Later on he told me he was only kidding, and not to mention it to our folks or they'd get him.

I can't stop thinking about this, Helen and Sue. Every time I do something dumb and my folks look at me funny, I wonder if they're regretting me. That is, if they really did adopt me. The more I worry, the surer I am.

How can I find out without getting my brother in trouble? I really like him, most of the time. And besides, he'd stop letting me wear his T-shirts if I told on him.

—MARCIE

SUE'S VIEWS

Dear Marcie:

Welcome to the club! At one point or another in our kid-hood, almost all of us suspect we're adopted—usually because an older brother or sister or cousin or some other stinky person says so. It's a neat way to hurt without drawing blood and getting clobbered by your parents), and I might even use it myself except I don't have a younger brother or sister.

My sister Kathy once told me I was left on the doorstep and my parents took me in because I was a cute baby (but then I grew up).

I was scared to come right out and ask Mom for two reasons: Kathy would sit on me and, more important, I might find it was true. So instead I "just happened" to get curious about marriage licenses and birth certificates (while looking through an old family picture album) and asked if I could see all of ours.

Try this, Marcie, and I think you'll discover you're a

"natural," just as I did. Most parents don't make a secret of adoption. —SUE

HELEN'S ANSWER

Dear Marcie:

...And five years later, at "remember when" time around the dinner table, the family will finally learn why you took a sudden interest in legal documents. By then it will be funny, even to you.

P.S. On the outside chance that your brother wasn't kidding, a discussion of birth certificates will probably lead into the story of your life—something your parents may have been waiting for the right moment to tell you. If this is the case, don't let that word "adopted" throw you. After all, you are especially chosen, therefore loved in a very special way! —HELEN

Dear Helen and Sue:

I've been dating a girl from a different town and her parents don't know my background. They liked me fine until Karen's grandmother told them that a policeman friend told her that I had a record and was always in trouble. This isn't true, but it turned her folks against me, and now Karen isn't allowed to go out with me.

I found out it's another guy in my town with almost my same name who people are getting me mixed up with. We're even the same age, 16.

How can I convince Karen's folks I tried talking to them but still she can't see me? —INNOCENT

Dear Innocent:

Why not get a signed statement from your friendly neighborhood cop, stating that you wear the white hat? You might need it for other occasions too. —SUE

Or prove you're the good guy by inviting Karen's folks over for a Sunday afternoon visit with your family. Good luck! —HELEN

Agnew Visits Father's Birthplace

By WALTER R. MEARS

Associated Press Writer

GARGALIANOI, Greece (AP) —

Vice President Spiro T. Agnew came to the village of his ancestors today in an emotional homecoming that filled the narrow streets with welcoming townspeople.

He said he had learned that a man can go home again, "even to a home he has only heard of but never seen before."

The emotion of the moment could be read in Agnew's face as he stood before the people of Gargalianoi in the town's soccer stadium and paid tribute to his late father.

"If any individual is entitled to these honors I receive it is he," the vice president said. "He was one of you and he left these shores many years ago."

"It was on his knee that I learned of this town and of the principles of the early Hellenes ... And I only wish that he could have returned with me today," Agnew said, his voice breaking for just an instant, "and yet I sense his presence here."

Agnew does not speak Greek. His remarks were translated sentence by sentence and the crowd applauded almost every line.

"I could see him breaking up near the end," Mrs. Agnew said later.

The vice president walked through a welcoming archway and drove to the village cemetery to place a flag-draped wreath at a family gravesite. He visited a white-walled orphanage that was a convent founded by his great aunt. Agnew gave bracelets to two young girls who lived there, and he patted them on their cheeks.

He went to the ancestral home of his family where a cousin, Andreas Anagnosto-poulos, still lives and dedicated there a plaque "in commemoration of my origins here and in honor of the Greek inheritance which so many other Americans proudly share." Gargalianoi is a town of about 7,000 people overlooking the Ionia Sea.

"Today this son of Gargalianoi has come home," the vice president said in a speech prepared for a luncheon given by the town.

"The spirit of this village, of these hills and valleys, of this country inspired my father throughout his life ... even as it guided his father and his father before him."

Agnew's father was born Theofrostos Spyro Anagnostopoulos, in Gargalianoi, on Sept. 12, 1878. He left for the United States at 24, became a citizen and Anglicized his name. He died in 1963.

"My fondest wish is that my father could have lived to enjoy this day with us," Agnew said in his speech to the townspeople.

But amid the emotion of homecoming, there was evidence of the politics of Agnew's first visit to Greece.

Premier George Papadopoulos accompanied the vice president to Gargalianoi.

Papadopoulos, whose military regime has been criticized in the U.S. Congress as a dictatorship and urged by the State Department to move toward representative rule, has spent some 6½ hours in conference with Agnew. He also has not missed an opportunity to appear with the vice president outside the conference rooms.

The premier came Monday night to a reception in Athens for Agnew, joining some 600 Americans and Greeks.

Rundown on Pittsburgh Celebration

PITTSBURGH, Pa. (AP) —

The big World Series victory demonstration was a "jubilant celebration that got a little out of hand," the city's top cop says. The mayor calls it "an overexuberant celebration."

The 10-hour celebration in the downtown area that attracted an estimated 100,000 people left these results:

—Hospital treatment for 128 persons.

—Arrests of 96 persons.

—Vandalizing of downtown shops.

—Cars heavily damaged, many with caved in roofs.

—A fire engine stripped for equipment.

—A hotel forced to temporarily close.

—Tons of debris left in the streets.

Police Supt. Robert E. Colville called a news conference Monday to "set the record straight" about what happened. Mayor Peter Flaherty said "the national news media" blew things out of proportion.

Colville said stories about rapes and criminal assaults on downtown streets were fabricated by reporters. During the celebration Sunday night a police desk sergeant reported a dozen rapes.

Colville said the demonstration which erupted after the Pittsburgh Pirates' 2-1 seventh-game World Series baseball clincher over the Orioles at Baltimore was just a "jubilant celebration that got a little out of hand."

"But that happens whenever such a large crowd gathers," he added.

Hospital spokesmen confirmed Monday treating 128 minor injury cases and at least one case involving injury requiring hospitalization. All of the cases were related to the downtown celebration the spokesmen added.

Police also confirmed 98 arrests made as a wildly cheering, singing, dancing and sometimes violent crowd roams through the streets.

No Fear of Dollar Squeeze by Tourists

By DICK BARNES

Associated Press Writer

MADRID (AP) — There's no reason for today's American traveler in Europe to fear catching the dollar disease that struck tourists two months ago when President Nixon unveiled his new economic policies.

A three-week, five-country tour found no evidence to justify fears of "worthless" dollars or exorbitant exchange rates that gripped some traveling Americans after Nixon's decision to float the dollar.

True, the dollar is worth less now than it was before Nixon's announcement. But it's not worth so much less that it would make any drastic difference in vacationing spending plans.

A few simple precautions insure against needlessly wasting dollars in currency exchanges.

Foremost, make principal money exchanges at commercial or American Express banks. Comparisons in London, Paris, Vienna, Rome and Madrid showed the best exchange rates for dollars were invariably at banks rather than at specialized money-changing bureaus or hotels.

In Paris, for example, the Banque National de Paris gave 5.27 francs for each dollar, while an exchange office at the north railway station gave only 5.00, a difference of about 5 per cent.

When shopping for items of much value, inquire about the store's exchange rate before deciding whether to pay in local currency or with U.S. dollar traveler's checks.

At a Scotch textiles shop in London, for example, we paid in British pounds because the store's exchange rate of one pound per $2.53 was less favorable than the bank's $2.47½. But we used dollar traveler's checks at a men's shop because its rate of $2.40 was better than the bank.

Restaurants in general offered unfavorable rates, though at fashionable Maxim's in Paris, the exchange rate for traveler's checks was within 1 per cent of the best bank rates. Even at the most extreme,

No End of Boons: There Is Always Something Worth Living For

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Things that make life worth living:

The quiet courage and loyalty of ordinary men and women leading ordinary lives. Listening to an older person whose reminiscences thrill instead of bore you. Coming upon a love letter written by your father to your mother when they were sweethearts. Getting a two-bit cigar from your boss on your birthday.

The sight of two people, hand in hand, walking across the top of a faraway hill, outlined by a dying sun—human life against the landscape. Overhearing your small son brag to a playmate that he has a father who knows everything and can do anything. Tagging an opposing player out at home plate to prevent a run that would tie the game.

A second cup of hot bean soup for lunch on a wintry day. Seeing how far you can swim underwater while holding your breath as your hammering heart makes echoes in your head. Picking up the sofa pillow after a nap and finding $1.37 in change that leaked from your pocket. Going to a cocktail party and having nine people ask you for one of the seven kittens your cat gave birth to in the kitchen the week before.

Being told by your doctor that a little jogging wouldn't hurt you—and being told by your wife that she wouldn't dream of letting you risk your life doing such a foolish thing at your age.

The sound of an old dog snoring by a fireside, growling deep in his throat as he fights again the forgotten battles of his puppyhood. Putting on the third sweater a maiden aunt has knitted for you and discovering this one fits. Buying a second car that goes three months without even needing its hood lifted.

The taste of cornbread and white gravy made from friend chicken. Winning $30 at poker on Saturday night, placating your wife with $25 of it, and tossing the remaining $5 bill in the church collection plate Sunday morning—so who needs money, anyway? Landing on the green of a 415-yard hole with your second stroke—only three feet from the flag.

A midnight raid on a well-stocked refrigerator. Awakening at dawn to find that most of the troubles that kept you twisting and turning during the night don't even seem worth bothering about now.

Coming upon an old income tax record which shows that you're making twice as much dough as you did 15 years ago—and so what if the government is enjoying it more than you are?

The grateful kiss of a small girl whose woes you have helped by making her silent doll say "Mama" again. Going Halloweening with a group of kids and collecting $13.13 cents for UNICEF.

Walking alone in the autumn woodlands and sensing the eternal thrill of a higher power, which, for every color leaf that falls now, will put a new one in its place come next spring.
